THERE is nothing like an important engagement in the social world to start the tongue of the fashionable people wagging. All are interested in knowing everything there is to know about both parties concerned, and during the past week two engagements have been announced, which have been the chief topics of conversation at the little smart gatherings of the leading social set. The first interesting engagement to be made known was that of Miss Mildred E. Windsor and Everett Mason of Niagara Falls, N. Y. We hear that the wedding is to take place the first of June, which adds another popular girl to the list of prominent June brides. "Mil" Windsor is tall and stately, with a slim figure and small features. She is a stunning type of brunette, and her large dark eyes are always bright and sparkling. Every one adores her, for she possesses so much charm and personal magnetism. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Windsor, and a sister of Miss Josephine Windsor. The Windsor family have always been prominent in the business world as well as the social world and the handsome old Windsor home in West Ferry street is one of our picturesque show places. The bride-elect is a gifted musician, having had the advantages of extensive study abroad under noted artists. She devotes much of her time to the piano and has played in many musicales of note and accompanied many soloists in amateur performances. It is not an unusual sight to see Miss Windsor out for a canter in the park, for she is a keen horse-woman and owns several fine horses.

MR. MASON is a prominent and well-to-do business man of Niagara Falls, and a general favorite in the smartest social circles of the Falls and vicinity. He is a member of the Lewiston Country club and the Niagara club, which corresponds to the Saturn club here. The couple will reside at No. 15 Buffalo avenue, Niagara Falls, after their marriage. It was formerly the site of the Kaltenbach hotel, but that has been torn down and an attractive structure is going up in its place, where Mr. Mason and his bride will have their future home.
